A screenshot of a web browser displaying the configuration page for a Cisco Aironet 1240AG Series Access Point. The browser title is "Cisco IOS Series AP - Security - Admin Access - Windows Internet Explorer". The address bar shows "http://192.168.1.254/ap_sec_local-admin-access.shtml#LocalUserList". The page header includes the Cisco logo and "Cisco Aironet 1240AG Series Access Point". The main content area is titled "Security: Admin Access" and shows the "Administrator Authenticated by:" section with radio buttons for "Default Authentication (Global Password)", "Local User List Only (Individual Passwords)", "Authentication Server Only", "Authentication Server if not found in Local List", and "Local List if no response from Authentication Server". The "Authentication Cache:" section has a checkbox for "Enable Authentication Server Caching". Below these are sections for "Default Authentication (Global Password)" and "Local User List (Individual Passwords)". The "Default Authentication (Global Password)" section has fields for "Default Authentication Password:" and "Confirm Authentication Password:", with "Apply" and "Cancel" buttons. The "Local User List (Individual Passwords)" section has a "User List:" table with a "Delete" button, and fields for "Username:", "Password:", "Confirm Password:", and "Capability Settings:" (Read-Only or Read-Write), with "Apply" and "Cancel" buttons. Red boxes highlight the "Default Authentication Password:" field, the "Confirm Authentication Password:" field, and the "User List:" table. Red arrows point to the "Apply" buttons in the "Default Authentication (Global Password)" and "Local User List (Individual Passwords)" sections. The footer of the page includes "Close Window" and "Copyright (c) 1992-2006 by Cisco Systems, Inc.".
